Official launch of the Craton Foundation

28 September 2011; Windhoek, Namibia. Craton Mining and Exploration officially launched the Craton Foundation today at Olof Palme School in Katutura, Windhoek, Namibia. The launch has been strategically timed to take place on Namibia's 'Day of the Child'. The launch saw a donation made to Olof Palme School by the Craton Foundation. These funds will be used to either acquire various educational and sporting materials or to build brick class rooms. The Olof Palme School has currently 2 tented classrooms which houses some of the lower primary classes.

The Craton Foundation aims to create long-lasting relationships with the communities in which Craton Mining and Exploration operates, by providing assistance for the social upliftment and educational advancement of Namibian citizens.

About Craton Mining and Exploration

Craton Mining and Exploration is the wholly-owned, Namibian-registered, operating entity of International Base Metals Limited. Craton's exploration efforts are focused on the Omitiomire copper prospect and a portfolio of prospective exploration tenements through-out Namibia.
